Trainers: Jessica Bridgman

March 20th 6:30 – 8:30 – Program for Infant/Toddler Care Training $10 – We will focus on Caring for Infants and Toddlers in Groups with Developmentally Appropriate Practice. With this Zero to Three program we will highlight: - Details on the significant impact relationships have on shaping the wiring of young child’s brain, - Ways to support language and literacy learning for infants and toddlers, - Updated info about the elements of quality for group care and how those elements connect to the learning process, - New insights about the unique challenges and opportunities infant-toddler care teachers face, - Tools and strategies to help teachers engage in reflective practice and build respectful and culturally sensitive relationships with both colleagues and parents.
Trainer: Laura Travis-Ehart. Register by March 13th.

March 27th 6:30 – 8:30 pm – PITC: Meeting the Intimacy Needs of Infants and Toddlers in Groups $10 – “If I were a baby, I would have difficulty always having to adapt to a different style. One caregiver is fast, the other is slow. One uses cold water to wash my buttocks, one uses warm. For me, if I am a baby, I would have to adapt to so much novelty that I would want to still be able to predict a little bit.” -Magda Gerber
This part of the Program for Infant and Toddler Care will focus on the intimacy needs of infants and toddlers while focusing on 3 program policies that will lead to this special kind of care: Primary Caregiver Assignments, The Use of Small Groups, and Continuity of Care.
Trainer: Laura Travis-Ehart. Register by March 20th.
